Department of Forest Science
Graduate School of Agricultural and Life Sciences
The University of Tokyo
Admissions Guide - Doctoral Course
(General Admissions / Special Admissions for Working Adults)
Academic Year 2026

The following is a supplement to the Application Guideline for the Doctoral Course, AY2026 (Graduate School of Agricultural and Life Sciences, the University of Tokyo).

For the General Admissions and the Special Admissions for Working Adults for the Doctoral Program of the Department of Forest Science, only Schedule B will be conducted.

<Schedule B>

1. Application Period

From Thursday, November 20, 2025 (10:00 a.m.) to Wednesday, November 26, 2025 (5:00 p.m.)

Please read the Application Guideline carefully before applying.

2. Foreign Language (English)

Applicants must submit official TOEFL-iBT or TOEFL-iBT Home Edition scores. The method of submitting TOEFL scores is described in the Application Guideline "7. Foreign Language (English) Examination". Also, make sure to complete the process of sending the official score reports to the Graduate School. Note that if your score cannot be verified online, your score will not be valid. Note that the Department of Forest Science requires a score higher than 60 out of 120 for application.

3. Document Screening

Selection will be made based on the submitted documents (transcripts from the applicant's home university, TOEFL scores(see above), research plan after admission, thesis, reports and abstracts, etc.).

The examination fee will not be refunded even if the applicant is rejected in the document screening.

*Master's degree students and graduates of the University may be exempted from submitting TOEFL scores. If you wish to do so, please specify at the time of application based on the following table.

4. Oral Examination

An oral examination will be conducted for those who pass the document screening. An oral presentation should explain the applicant's reasons for applying, the content of his/her Master's thesis or equivalent research, and research plans after admission, followed by a question-and-answer session based on the applicant's presentation and Master's thesis or equivalent, abstract of Master's thesis or equivalent and materials submitted at the time of application. In addition, an oral examination on expertise in forest science and general knowledge of agricultural and life sciences will be conducted.

For applicants residing abroad, the examination may be taken online. For those who are expected to complete the Master's course in this department, questions at the Master's thesis review meeting will be substituted for the oral examination.

5. Examination Dates

The examination will be conducted from Thursday, January 29 to Friday, February 6, 2026.

The date, time, and other details of the examination will be provided in the "Guidelines for Examinees' " to be sent by e-mail in early January 2026.
